Discussion nº 2 - Friday 3rd November to Friday 11th November “Consequence and Reward in the Primary Classroom”

Dave Tucker is well known here in Portugal, and after attending his workshops I've always come away with my head full of good ideas and a sense that Dave knows just what working with children is all about. It's therefore a great pleasure to have him with us in November to field a discussion on discipline.

Preliminary reading for this discussion is an article suggested by Dave and can be downloaded at:

http://www.eayrs.com/ELT/publications/IATEFL_Issues/Archives/Texts/146Browne.html

Dave writes: “It's freely available so anyone can go and have a look and there's plenty of (a) sound advice and (b) thought provoking comments in there to get people going.”

The discussion will run for a period of seven days, during which time participants are invited to send in questions and queries and debate their contexts. A summary of the discussion will be provided once it has closed.

It's a fantastic opportunity for teachers to share knowledge and learn with others, so do participate. Invite your colleagues to join as well. Spread the word ☺!

Dave Tucker is Director of Studies in International House Coimbra, and has been teaching Young Learners in Portugal for the last 19 years. He is a tutor on the IH Certificate in Teaching Young Learners, and his areas of particular interest are discipline (or Reward and Consequence Systems) and Cross-Channel (VAK) Learning.
