

PART OF THE INTO GROUP

NILE are pleased to inform you that we are running a free webinar on Content and Language Integrated Learning for teachers worldwide.

Why not join us online?

What? 'Feedback and Assessment in CLIL'

When? Thursday 2 April, 14.00 GMT

Who? Jason Skeet

How long? Around 40 minutes

How to enrol? Book your free place by clicking on the link <https://www.eventbrite.co.uk/e/nile-online-webinar-feedback-assessment-in-clil-tickets-16232874966>

More information?

Feedback and Assessment in CLIL

Feedback and assessment in Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL) raises a number of challenges for teachers. For example, teachers need to know how to give feedback on language use. They also have to judge what the balance can be in terms of assessing content and language whilst also recognising the ways in which language and content are intertwined in the learning process. This webinar explores some specific approaches to feedback and assessment in CLIL. Throughout, the focus will be on looking at practical suggestions and ideas that can be applied in a CLIL classroom.

Jason Skeet

Jason Skeet taught for seven years in a bilingual school in The Netherlands, after which he worked as a CLIL consultant and trainer at Utrecht University. He has taught on several CLIL summer schools (including at NILE) and also written about CLIL. He currently works as a Lecturer in Teacher Education at City College Norwich. Jason is also the course writer for NILE's latest online teacher development course: Content and Language Integrated Learning.